

abandon

To abandon means to leave something or someone behind and not come back. It's like when you completely give up on something or walk away from it forever.

The family found a puppy that someone had abandoned in the park, so they took it home and gave it lots of love and care.